

PERSONNEL CONSULTING FOR IT MARKETS

STRENGTHEN COMPANY SUCCESS

Competitive advantage, future-oriented development and success: Your employees are the key. In order to secure your company's economic viability, you need the best. You want to fill vacancies quickly. As an agile and specialized personnel consultant we help you reach your goals – competently, quickly and personally.

The Best Qualifications for IT

PERIT Consulting – our name stands for PERsonnel consulting in the IT industry. Our ambition: to be the best personnel service agency with the best vacancies for top IT experts. We have been recruiting qualified experts, sales professionals and managers for the TIMES markets since 1997: telecommunications, information, multimedia, entertainment and security. We deliver high performance thanks to specialisation – our success is that you profit from our expertise.

Comprehensive Consulting

Master your challenges - this is our consultants' and partners' goal. They are all experienced in management and have an excellent understanding of the industry. Special insider knowledge combined with creativity and a passion for your high responsibility positions – that distinguishes our consultants and partners. Allow us to advise you, gain motivated high achievers for your company or obtain future-oriented positions through our coaching. You occupy top vacancies with our consultants – we catapult you to the top with professionalism and dedication.

"Personnel consulting must be quick and agile in order to effectively support the economic viability of companies in the age of mobility."

PERSONNEL RECRUITING IS NOT A MATTER OF LUCK

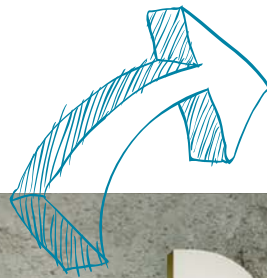

Secure a decisive competitive edge for your company with excellent employees, which only we can find on the market and win over for you. We are prompt and efficient – thanks to our specific IT know-how and our personnel consultants' profitable network. Targeted and systematic – we accompany you with the personal, direct contacting of candidates. Top-class management vacancies – filled by our experienced executive search team.

Personally More Progress

We are always personally available and remain in dialogue with you. A special team for direct contact and access to the top experts on the market is the basis for our rapid progress. This way we find managers ourselves, who are not readily visible. And with the efficient executive search, we are always a step ahead thanks to our permanent individual ongoing contact with first-class managers.

Creating Trust

Our guiding principles in our cooperation with you are: discretion, integrity and quality. In this way, a trusting and profitable cooperation is formed for all those involved.

"Our consultants' special insider knowledge in the IT industry is the key factor for the effective filling of IT vacancies."

GET A HEAD START WITH INDUSTRY-SPECIFIC INSIDER KNOWLEDGE

Gain valuable time and relief with your workload, while we get the entire recruiting process up and running: from the candidate search to the interview and contract. With our market knowledge, professionalism and intuition, we will be at your side when it comes to filling the IT vacancies for expert sales professionals and management. We fill first-class management vacancies through our own executive search team.

Trendsetting

The professional and experienced consultants from PERIT understand and speak the IT language – qualified, reliable and discrete. When recruiting expert personnel to meet your requirements, they operate systematically and are therefore able to find the favourites for your vacancies.

"A good personnel consultant is characterized by more listening, advising, accompanying as well as his/her experience."

Structured Approach

We start with an exact requirement profile, compiled together with you. The consultant's comprehensive expertise and industry knowledge is the key to creating the optimal and market-oriented profile. Through our consultants' expertise and the implementation of the latest technologies, we can quickly introduce you to the right talents for your future-oriented growth.

Strong Performance During the Talent Search

When searching for the best, we pull out all the stops: structured research with personal contact and the targeted integration of offline and online media lead directly to the suitable candidates. In the Internet, our job offers are always current and present in many social media platforms. Additionally, our extensive network leads you to your goal quickly.

"Social Media and the Web open fascinating possibilities for engaging in active and quick dialogues supplementing direct contact methods."

Best Fine Tuning

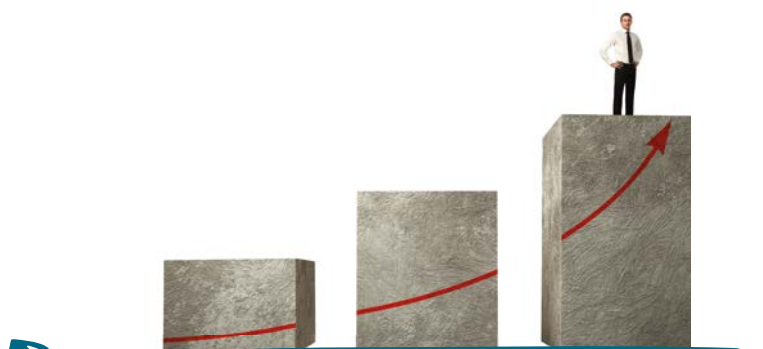

Our effective direct contact helps make quick progress with the candidate search. Together with you, we create a list of target companies, in which the suitable candidates can be found. After your approval of the target company list, our consultants identify your ideal candidates and speak directly with them so that you achieve quick results.

Qualifications Matter

After the selection, the PERIT consultants qualify suitable candidates for you through personal dialogues and structured interviews. Only the favourites come to speak with you – well prepared, coordinated and accompanied personally by our consultants.

TOP Form up to the Finishing Line

We support you with our individual consulting during the entire process when hiring your top candidates – right up until the signing of the contract.
